

BIC has a strong global footprint and produces many products as close to our customers and consumers as possible, which has helped limit any impacts to our global supply chain and logistics operations from COVID-19. At this time, we do not expect any major delays on the majority of our products. That said, due to the nature of the COVID-19 outbreak, the situation can change very quickly. Potential interruptions on specific products may occur in the future.

As a precaution, we have implemented several additional measures to secure our production capacity, such as increasing our storage of finished goods and essential raw materials to minimize the impact of supplier issues, closely coordinating with local sites to anticipate and manage any workforce gaps in compliance with all local government regulations, and working closely with customers to increase their safety stock levels.

We are monitoring the situation very closely and making every effort to ensure business continuity. We will keep you informed of any changes. If you have any specific questions, please contact your customer service team.
